Not illustrated. 1905 Excerpt: . does not, of course, mean that absolute or approximate uniformity of conducting fiscal operations is not a most desirable and necessary aim to be attained for the purpose of comparative statistics. A chance error is not equal to no error at all; neither is it equivalent to a constant error. These elements, though, are not the only ones tending to complicate the nature of our data and to influence the variability of the itemized expenditures. In the original tables the expenditures for various municipal undertakings, such as water works, gas works, electric light works, docks and wharves, markets, cemeteries, etc., are included in the total expenditures for maintenance and operation.² Now in reality these enterprises generally are made self-supporting, or nearly so, by the revenues derived from the sale of the commodities produced or the privileges granted; hence, to include the expenditures for these departments as constituent portions of the expenditures for the maintenance and operation of the municipality is, in a sense, an unscientific procedure. Inasmuch as 80 of the cities have been reported as having expenditures of this kind, and inasmuch as, in general, the amounts concerned are small, when reduced to per cents, of the gross total, their influence is minimized. 1 Service transfers are transactions between two departments, offices, or accounts of a city in which one performs some service for another and receives pay or credit therefor. 2 Excluded from the statistics for 1902 and 1903. See Sections X and...
