Since all interaction presupposes the concomitance of both the ascending and the descending processes, it follows that the products of solution must appear as ionic pairs. An odd solution component cannot remain in solution. In this we have the real reason why molecules break down into so-called ionic pairs. We cannot accept that contention of the electrolytic theory of dissociation which holds that the ionic pairs in solution are charged in an opposite electrical manner. aider the universe as created by, but independent of, God then we have deism. Contemplating the world as a selfsufficient given, self-operative, and uncreated Godless system, we arrive at the position of materialism or atheism. Deism, atheism, and pantheism involve an inert mechanical model despite the supposed differences in the three positions.
